Forecasting glucose levels using features generated by multimodal Large Language models